The Law Regulating Newspapers and Periodicals.

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions.

If subscribers order the discontinuance of their papers the publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid, the subscribers are responsible for all the numbers sent.

If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible till they have settled their bills and ordered the papers discontinued.

The Courts have decided that any person who takes a newspaper or periodical from the post office, whether directed to his name or another's, or whether he subscribes for it or not, is responsible for the price of the paper.

Subscribers to newspapers or periodicals removing are liable to pay so long, as the paper is forwarded, unless they give notice to the publisher of the discontinuance, and pay all arrearages, or the publisher may at his option send the paper to the place to which it is directed, and charge the price of the paper to the person who takes it from the post office, or to the person to whom it is directed, at his option, until such notice is given and such arrearages are paid.

The Portland Kerosene Oil Co.

GIVE NOTICE that they are manufacturers of "Kerosene Oil" and Proprietors of the Trade Mark of that name, and wholesale dealers in their kerosene. The superior qualities of this article are sufficient to recommend it to the market, but that none can be imposed on, we caution the public against purchasing any dark color oil or spurious imitation, as our Burning Fluid is guaranteed to be perfectly free from Gum, and not liable to explode, as it is purified and deodorized with Carbonic Acid Gas, and not with Tar and Rosin Naphtha, and is the best and most substantial article for the dwelling, factory and the farm. Our Burning Fluid is also guaranteed to be free from Camphene, and we caution dealers and consumers against the use of Camphene, as it is dangerous, and we would remind the public that we are the only manufacturers of Kerosene Oil in Portland, and that our Burning Fluid is the only article that has been tested and proved to be safe. TO THE PUBLIC.

Numerous imitations of the STEWART STOVE having appeared in the market during the past few years and to date, attempts having been made to counterfeit the name or trade mark, it is deemed highly important that the public should know how to distinguish the genuine article when making purchases of a stove.

Ask for the genuine P. P. STEWART Stove, and see that P. P. STEWART'S name is on the hearth plate of each Stove. The names of the manufacturers Potter, Harris & Co., are on each Stove.

BOOTS AND HOES

MADE ON

PLUMER'S PATENT ANATOMICAL LASTS!

(From J. V. C. Smith, M. D., formerly Mayor of Boston.)

PLUMER'S PATENT BOOTS.

The Undersigned has worn a pair of these Improved Boots and feels grateful to the inventor for the comfort derived from them. The rise of instrument of the sole to every part of the under surface of the foot is an important circumstance which seems to have been entirely overlooked till Dr. Plumer planted his Last and Boot upon truly scientific principles.

Those who have once had an opportunity to test the real advantages of these Philosophically made Boots will hardly be reconciled to wear any other.

J. V. C. SMITH.

BOSTON, July 25, 1861.

J. C. PLUMER, M. D.

Dear Sir—I am greatly delighted with your newly adapted boots which I have worn during the past winter, and only wonder that the world should have been so long in not having made the use of them a century ago. Any one with a grain of common sense and a moments reflection cannot fail to see that your PATENT BOOTS AND SHOES are perfectly adapted to the foot, that wonderful piece of Nature's Mechanism, giving to every portion of the foot its relative and equal support, and I am sure that those who once make trial of your new last will never go back to the old fashioned boots or shoes which are so prolific of Corns, Bunions and a thousand other troubles. Your Patent Boots seems to be perfect, and I have no more fear of supporting the ball and instep when walking over rough surfaces.

I wish I knew of some means by which I could make known to every man, woman and child in Christendom, the value and importance of your invention. Very truly yours,

MORRIS MATTSON, M. D.,

6 Somerset Street.

PORTLAND, July 15, 1860.

DR. PLUMER—

Sir—I am having learned the principle upon which your Anatomical Last is made, I was favorably impressed as to its efficiency, and I have given it a fair trial, which all have experienced who have to walk considerably, viz., severe pain in the foot after walking. After having worn the boots made upon the Anatomical Last, I found my anticipations more than realized. I can walk nearly all day without experiencing the least fatigue, which I attribute to the Last. I also escape the bruising and blistering of the toes, which I was subject to before I had worn your boots, and at the same time I have had more ease than any other shoes I have worn. Truly yours,

C. H. BLANCHARD, M. D.

CURE FOR PILES

A NEW DISCOVERY.

The Alterative or Pile Worms, the removal of which has ever baffled the skill of the most eminent Physicians, are entirely expelled from the human system by the use of DR. R. H. GOULD'S PINWORM SYRUP. A sure cure warranted in every case. Relief in a few hours.

SYMPTOMS.—Intense itching, lifting and distress in the lower part of the rectum, which, at the seat (often mistaken for the Piles) disagreeable sensation in the epigastric region or lower part of the bowels, restlessness, wakefulness, starting and screaming in the sleep, fainting, and not unfrequently spasms of fits.

This Syrup is purely of vegetable extract, mild and certain in its action, and in all cases where Physic is required, especially for children, it has no equal. It will give relief to the stomach and bowels, assisting nature in her process to restore health.

"We left Boston on the 11th of October, and made our way down to the Bermudas, where there has been a privateer reported

On Tuesday, the 12th of November, a sail was seen, at daylight, off our weather beam, steering down for us, we being under easy sail. Down he came till within about 1 mile of us, when discovering what we were, he hauled his wind with the intention no doubt, of getting away from us but we made sail in chase, and the distance soon grew visibly less, and he set the English flag at his masthead As we came up, things began to look queer aboard of him For instance he had too many men for his vessel, and then he had something covered up amidships that looked like a pivot gun However, we soon had him under our guns and without hauling distance — In answer to our hail, he reported himself to be from Baltimore bound to Havana The Captain was ordered on board with his papers His papers, when produced, were a letter of Marque from Jeff Davis authorizing the schooner Beauregard a privateer She was manned by a Captain, two Lieutenants, a Purser, and 25 men — She mounted one rifled pivot gun The crew were transferred to our vessel, where they were treated to double rations We have now got her into Key West, and as soon as we get clear of our prisoners, we start off on another cruise, as there is said to be another privateer about The Captain of this schooner was one of the prize masters of the ship Jeff Davis, the 1st Lieutenant served some time on board the pirate Winslow; the 2d Lieutenant was boatswain of the Jeff Davis, and some four or five of the crew were also on board the Jeff Davis, so we have got some old offenders'

Messrs Wheeler & Lynde

Among the many vicissitudes of war, there is occasionally a pleasant feature One of this kind has transpired in our regiment this evening It was the presentation of a splendid sword to our worthy Major Chaplin, by the company formerly under his command, (Co F) The presentation speech was made by Captain Wilson and was replied to by Major Chaplin, in a few brief remarks, which brought tears to the eyes of many of the brave fellows whom he addressed It was an occasion not likely to be forgotten by either of parties concerned W

In 1836 Rev Elijah P Lovejoy, of Alton, Illinois, was brutally murdered by a pro slavery mob, for publishing a paper in a Free State, wherein he temperately discussed the institution of slavery, occupying substantially the ground covered by the Chicago platform

His murder took place on the 7th of November, 1836 In November, 1860 we published a communication from a gentleman of this city, who was with Lovejoy when he fell, pierced by the bullets of the furious mob, and who received his last words In that letter he called attention to the cheering coincidence, that on the twenty fourth anniversary of the murder of Lovejoy, November 7th, 1860 the nation rang with cheers over the election of a President from the same State of Illinois, chosen to carry out the same views in defence of which the martyr fell.

The same gentleman now reminds us that the anniversary has been celebrated this year by the glorious capture of the forts at Port Royal and planting of the Union power in the heart of the stronghold of treason—N Y Post

Thus do events keep alive the memory of noble deeds, and bring in the just retribution of history.

Rev. Mr. Everett's Thanksgiving Sermon.

"Democracy on Trial."

Text—Let all the people praise thee oh God, yea, let all the people praise thee.—Psalm 67.3

We have gathered again to celebrate the time honored festival of Thanksgiving A year ago we gathered, an unbroken sisterhood of states No place was vacant about the national hearthstone Now, the sisterly bond is broken, a part of our number have left the common roof and the dear old fireside We remember them today, in the midst of the gladness of the time, with sorrow We think of them, not with the tender sadness which hallows the spot where one has sat, who is gone, through the dark shadows of death, into the upper glory We think of them, not with the calm affection which follows those who have gone into some far land, to bear the fair name and fame of their fathers, and to found a new household, pure and peaceful like the old Not thus do we think of them, for they have gone forth to give themselves to a life of shame We sought to throw about them the guards of home By its tender sanctities did we seek to shield them—by its gentle laws to restrain them We bore our part of the shame which their misfortune and sin brought upon us, but all was not enough They broke from us, and went forth, glorying in that for which the world pitied and despised them, and us for them We seek to bring them back, we would gladly welcome them again But now they are gone, and a part of our best life has gone to bring them back Many a broken fireside circle mages the broken circle of the nation's family And yet we gather, what remain of us, as of old, yet we go for our Thanksgiving in no vain formality, yet we are glad with no feigned gladness

Why is this? Why should we in the presence of this terrible reality of war, yet feel impelled to give thanks, even if no proclamation from any Governor had counselled it? Suppose it were a pestilence that was wasting our land, or some convulsion of nature that was racking it Suppose our dearest ones, we knew were tossed by the power of some terrific tempest How different would be our feeling We might hush our murmuring, we might have a consoling faith in the providence of God, we might perhaps be calm, but who would be exultant? who would feel his heart's strong impulse press to pour itself forth in thanks? The difference is that, while we have faith that all things work for good yet, to our seeing, the tempest is blind—the pestilence flies with unseen feet! All the powers of nature work by their own laws, and though God may guide them, we have to trust that it is so, for we cannot see how, nor whither But political convulsions are not like this They seem to have a certain divine reason implanted in them We look back into the past, and in spite of retrogression and wandering, the race seems to have followed a straight, unswerving highway. It is as when from some achieved height we look back upon the devious way that we have trodden, and see its windings lost in the straightness of its general course May we know, for we have seen it that convulsions have ten its course, that when not sinful but real, these great political upheavings are the birth throes of new and grander eras And most of all, when principle stands arrayed against principle, brought into strife by the force of their own natures, by that irrepressible conflict for which they seem created we know that these are the times when the great index finger on the world's dial plate, which moves at other times so slowly that we can only see that it has moved, starts and goes forward before our very eyes

Thus does a certain exultation fill our hearts in the midst of our sadness Thus though twice since our last Thanksgiving Day the President of the nation has called our willing and eager hearts to unwonted fasts, yet now that Thanksgiving Day has come again, we are ready for it, with something not wholly unlike our joy

I know that foreboding voices come to us which would persuade us that the dial finger is moving visibly backward and not forward — Taunts are hurled at us, and those who once feared or envied us, now exult over our coming ruin Yet we must not wrongly interpret much of this. 'Democracy is on its trial' is the taunting cry Let us not shrink from or resent the words Democracy is on trial, and let us think God there for to-day Let high statesmanship of guilt, conscious of the weakness of its cause and of the unstedfastness of its judging, let him feel and shrink when the day of trial comes, but he who is strong in his integrity, and free of the iniquity of bloodguilt who shall be troubled? The day of trial has come at last — he cries with joy, 'No more pity no more responsible no more mocking judgment will be pronounced, and I shall stand clear in the presence of friends and enemies

Democracy is on trial. It has been tried before but the judgment has been set as the — Weakness has tried it and men have said 'The iniquities of the people hold them together — Prosperity, that most dangerous peril of all, has tried it, and men have said 'It is easy for a rich and prosperous nation to preserve itself — And now has come that strong convulsion which hardly a nation has survived with tool and the world accepts this as the true test Democracy on trial! but not democracy alone The same touchstone has been going the round of the nations One after another has crumbled at its touch Now let us see if democracy can endure it If it should—if it should—what triumph! what hope to the longing eyes of the nations! what light to those that are sitting in darkness! what joy—it should—and it will

But men do not rest with the cry 'Democracy is on trial' they go further than this They assume its downfall They forestall the judgment, and make of it a vindication 'The feeble of democracy has failed, they cry Complacent nobles point their dependents flinging for equal rights to us and say See to what these mad reformers will bring you' When they say that the strength of the people is now tried when these commotions are looked upon as the assaults of popular institutions, which are to test their power of endurance and of resistance, we have accept the judgment But when it is said that they have sprung out of democracy, and are the results of popular institutions we deny the charge This strife does not spring from democracy, unless slavery be democracy It does not show the working of popular institutions, unless to hold men in bondage be a popular institution Suppose you hear a man saying—a jolly and self content looking man that the cold water bubble has burst He saw a man drink a glass of water and get drunk on it — The temperance humbug has exploded You ask him if it was pure water that the man drank and he tells you no The glass was partly full of brandy which he poured the water into it, but nevertheless it was the water that did the business He had never thought much of water as a beverage, and now he would never taste a drop again as long as he lived A foolish illustration, you may say Nobody could be such a simpleton! You might say so, if, at this very moment the nobles and aristocrats of Europe were not pointing to the disturbances which slavery has brought into our institutions, and crying, 'See what democracy leads to!'

Was it too much democracy that made the government of Naples shake and fall? Is it too much democracy that makes the power of Rome so feeble that only foreign bayonets can hold it up? Was it because Tuscany, the garden of Italy, in many respects, perhaps, the best governed country in Europe, was too much of a democracy, that its grand duke had to join the procession of fleeing dukes and kings? Is it because Austria is too much of a democracy, that it stands, like a crumbling tower, ready to fall? The fact is, every government, at the present day, is strong, just so far as it is based on popular rights. If our nation is sinking the wild Bacchanalia of the crowned states of Europe, reeling with the same madness, torn by the same convulsions, it is because we have drunk of the same cup. It is because with the pure waters which, at the touch of our Fathers, sprung from the barren rocks of the new world, we have mingled the wine of their tyranny — The strength of every government in the civilized world, today, depends upon the strength of its popular element. If England is strong, it is because the people of England are strong If France is strong it is because the power of the people, at least in form, is recognized, because Napoleon sits, like a crowned republican, and does what he does in the peoples name The people now will everywhere be respected, at least in form, and will beat against every government that defies them, beat like a surging and maddened sea, till its foundations are gone and it falls with a mighty fall, and the waves leap over its ruins.

What did England do years ago? England popular and conservative England, holding fast to new realities and loving the old forms England slays and vanishes her race of kings, and then she calls them back and presents them with one hand upon their throne Was this mere idle sport? Nay it was the beginning of a new epoch The kings might sit upon their throne, but henceforth and forever, royalty was the people's gift, and if the king reigned it was by the grace of God and the people

So it was to some extent in the late revolutions in some of the German states, For a moment the people reigned, and then the kings and dukes No unmeaning farce was this Henceforth the rulers thanked the people for their crowns The King of Prussia stood uncovered in the presence of multitudes bearing to their burial the heroes that had fallen in rebellion against him They passed the palace, they called him, and he came forth and stood with uncovered head in the presence of the people and made them promises of good in time to come, till the soft heart of the multitude was changed, and they hailed him not only as King of Prussia, but as Emperor of a united Germany

If his bared head henceforth was covered with the crown, if his dynasty now sits enthroned and crowned, who placed the crown upon their brows? No Pope placed it there with the divine authority No ancestor placed it there, for the ancestral line was broken while the people reigned No hands placed it there but the hands of the people

Thus is it that more and more the people are recognized as the source of power Who reigns more and more by their authority, and more they will take their sceptre from their hands, and reign in reality and in form That nation is strong that falls in with the course of history

In this country our democracy is our strength This we may see by noting where the line of rottenness begins The States least democratic have wholly gone These, half free and half slave have half gone Part has fallen and part remain, like the points and ribs of granite that remain jutting from the mountain side after the avalanche of sand and clay has fallen, bearing down in its path

Whatever may be the results of this war it has shown the strength of a democracy Even at the world's estimate, were there ever states healthier than these Northern states—the purest democracy of the world to day? Calm, strong and earnest the loyal sons gather to support the laws of their country There is no madness there is no vindictiveness, but from every city and village, even from the remotest hamlet, and from the solitary farm house they pour forth It is not that their own houses are in danger It is not that their own liberty is imperilled But they will see to it that the authority of law is not lightly set at naught They will see to it that the broad liberties of the land are not further trampled upon In this calm strength is already the triumph of democracy They told us the the President lacked power What monarch is more absolute when need is, and so far as there is need?

And now those who know nothing of us fear for us a new danger These military leaders—these vast armies—what will become of them? Will not these leaders and these armies cling to their power? Two grand spectacles are already prophetic of the results One is the sublime transformation by which the aged general, whose name thrilled with an electric power through every heart dear to and, with the soldier unimportunately standing at the head of an army such as the world has rarely seen only laid down his power, when the infirmities of age warned him that he could no longer use for the best good of his country But two or three months ago the name of Scott was more dear than that of the President Now, by his own act, he is a citizen simply like the rest of us The names of how many Scotts does the world need to have us write over against that of our Washington to teach us that true liberty can trust armed defenders even as she can trust her unarmed schools The other spectacle is that of a general to whom had been entrusted the great department of the west His name was familiar to the land It had rung through it, bound up with the work of freedom We were told that he was the idol of his army Murmurings came to us when there was a word said of his removal — The foreign world caught them up and said them into the beginning of a rebellion We saw already Fremont setting up a new independent authority But the government doubted the fitness for his post His removal was decided upon and was announced to him Obedient to the law he laid down his power Earnestly he urged his soldiers to submit quietly to the change — He had his plans fully open to his successor, and then with a band of personal friends, that would not stay behind he left as a simple citizen soldier the east department where he had been supreme The world needs more such arguments? We will give them to it by the score, and when it sees Lincoln again pleading causes in the courts of Illinois, and McClellan and Banks busied with their railroads, and Butler, I fear rather hardly budging the witnesses on the stand in Boston, then will the world know that a republic can trust her children even in arms

And in this is the test and triumph of democracy It is not conquering in a war, though I believe we shall conquer It is passing through a war unitedly and heroically and coming out of it with hearts undorrupted and institutions unchanged Not victory in war, though that will add fresh lustre to the event, but power to endure the shock of war is what we need to prove our strength

The rudder band of the Great Eastern broke away The great mass lay for a time at the mercy of wind and wave It rolled as never vessel rolled before All was in strange confusion, but not a joint parted, not a drop of water forced its way through its iron seams, and when the slight accident that has caused this evil was repaired, she floated as of old—proved the strongest, as well as the vastest vessel on the seas, for none other could have borne the racking of such a mighty weight as hers and not have sunk So shall it be with our ship of State On either side, North or South were fastened to her rudder the bands that kept her straight in her course. One parted It is not strange that she lay for a time at the mercy of the elements but she showed her strength, in that she did not sink—in that now, with half her machinery in order, she is obedient to her helm, and moves steadily and strongly on her course

Such success as this wins new lustre, when this strength is on the side of the popular right, when such a war is fought for freedom against slavery I know that men tell us that we cannot claim this to be a war for freedom and against slavery, because we have not yet inscribed this motto upon our banner; our warcry is "Our flag and our laws!" But if our flag and our laws are assailed by the slave power, for its own ends, in order to free slavery from the restraints of freedom—if their war-cry is "A republic with slavery for its cornerstone," then we can claim the sympathy of the world on the side of freedom Suppose a maiden, as we read in classic fable, is exposed to the murderous power of some monster of the sea. Suppose the father goes forth to rescue her—And when he reproaches his neighbors that they look coolly on, sympathizing rather with the monster than the man, they should say, "you have nothing to claim from us. You go forth not to fight the sea-monster, but to save your daughter" So men say to us "Why do you claim the sympathy due to freedom? You are fighting, not against the slave power, but only to save your country" This is true, but if we defend our country and our laws against slavery when they are assailed in the cause of slavery, the war is by its own necessity a war against slavery And every day brings out more clearly the great issue Every day makes loom up more distinctly before us the great question of striking at the root of this great sin, and by the power of war sweeping it from the land If the signs of the times are prophetic of anything, they are prophetic of this great issue, if the war should continue long Whether or not we have now reached that point this is certain that every month that the war lasts brings nearer this inevitable crisis Whether it reaches this or not, the war will be, (whether by one rapid stroke or by sowing the seeds of slow decay,) the death of slavery Our armies will leave freedom in their wake The political supremacy of the South will be lost Their contempt of the North, not less real because ignorant will have been dispelled The monopoly of cotton will have passed away Slavery will have received its death stroke

I know, and I rejoice to know, that these changes of which I speak so gladly, will cast half of their burden upon us The cotton monopoly was not a southern, but an American monopoly We shall suffer with the South whatever less may come If one member suffer, all the members suffer with it This I rejoice to know The purifying strokes that bear away our sister, will shall fall on us also, for have we not sinned with her? Nay, was not this which the south has made a sin by clinging to, at first, her misfortune as well as ours

I know that many will believe the struggle wasted if this evil be not first thoroughly swept away But it cannot be wasted It is something to have lifted the nation from the rut where it had been sunk so long, though the journey be not finished by the act It is something to have moved the great wheel of events however little, for it never goes back Though the shoulders of the nation have spent their strength for it, the labor is not lost, for it never goes back We go to see a ship launched from the stocks We hear the hammers fall stroke after stroke, but the vessel stands All this time has been lost, we say The vessel does not move We do not know how far the blocks that held her have been knocked away, one after another, until she stands just ready for her plunge At last there is a stroke Who struck it? We see no one, we hardly heard it, the clamor has been so loud But was the first stroke The vessel sweeps Who struck it? We do not see him The vessel passes over him She plunges into the sea, and floats at last, a thing of life upon the waters Every stroke has told The issue crowns the first, no less than the last — No! Compare no labor grudgingly with the result Question not the righteousness of God's judgments Though now, beneath the shower of ringing blows we do not see, (for who can read the future the black bulk visibly starts, not one blow shall be lost The last block shall some time be struck away We may not know by whom or when The huge block moves at last passes away and the land shall be wholly and for ever free or the history of the world is the history of the people and by their rights—the people, the white people and nothing but the people is its end History is their history — God is their God Let us then, to day, in the fullness of our hearts, echo the words of the Psalmist, "Let the people praise thee, O God Yea, let all the people praise thee"

Proceedings of the Bar on Occasion of the Death of L. D. Bartlett Esq

At a meeting of Penobscot Bar on the 27th inst, the following resolutions were adopted as reported by a Committee previously appointed, consisting of A Sanborn, J A Peters and F A Wilson

The Members of the Penobscot Bar deploring the decease of their late associate brother Lahabod D Bartlett Esq and desiring to express their respect for him as a public expression of their sorrow therefore

Resolved That the intelligence of his untimely death has filled their hearts with no ordinary emotion of sorrow, they had long enjoyed his intercourse, for many years he was an associate member of their bar, a well instructed counsellor, an accurate and extensive legal learning and a friend and brother who had never deceived or betrayed

Resolved That we tender to his afflicted and mourning family our sympathy in their great bereavement

Resolved That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to his family

ALBERT W PAINE Secretary

These resolutions were yesterday submitted to the Court by Mr Sanborn, with the following remarks

May it please your honor My brothers of the Bar have assigned to me the sad duty of announcing to the Court the death of Brother Lahabod D Bartlett Esq, and of presenting the resolutions which they have passed as a testimonial of their respect for him

He died very suddenly, on the 26th of last month in the thirty seventh year of his age

Mr Bartlett graduated at Bowdoin College in 1844 with rare literary attainments for one so young He acquired his preparatory professional education in the office of the Hon Hannibal Hamlin of Ellsworth, New Hampshire and established himself in that city in 1847 soon entering upon a large and successful practice which continued until his decease

His mind was strong clear and logical rather than brilliant or imaginative his judgment was good and his opinions sound and correct He was industrious and skilful in all the engines of the profession an expert draughtsman and an excellent conveyancer He was in short a laborious learned and able lawyer If he had not such mental qualities as would enable him to attain a wide reputation he had not such an habit of distrust, which made him shrink from effort necessary to display his powers in that capacity

He had been called to the discharge of official duties in this municipal government of the city and was ever faithful to his trust He served his fellow citizens not himself His integrity as well in public as private life was never impeached

He has passed away His spirit has returned unto God who gave it

May we heed the admonition which his early departure has so solemnly and unexpectedly uttered to us and be ready, when the summons comes, to go

To which JUDGE APPLETON responded

I have listened with deep interest to the eloquent remarks announcing the resolutions of the Bar resolutions in themselves so true and so just to the memory of our departed brother, so fitting and appropriate so appreciative of his manly virtues and worth

Bearing a name ever honored in the annals of his native state, with all the advantages of a thorough education he commenced life with the literature of the day, our brother entered upon the study and made himself master of the profession, which he had chosen as the pursuit of earlier life Few were better acquainted with the technical learning of the earlier days or more fully versed in the liberal principles, with which enlarged philosophy, and advancing civilization have illustrated the jurisprudence of more modern times.

In the practice of the Courts as in all his dealings his integrity was never doubted or questioned his mind was discriminating and vigorous and his perceptions quick All who knew him respected his opinions and confided in his judgments His sterling home by commanded the confidence of the public His kindly nature, and his warm affections endeared him to his family and friends

In the beautiful liturgy of the church we are commanded to pray for deliverance from sudden death But such deliverance was not his destiny in the prime of life in the vigor of his manhood, in the strength of his intellect, he was taken from our midst but let us not grieve In the book of the wisdom of Jesus, the son of Sirach, it is written, Judge no one blessed before his death" "Make little mourning for the dead, for they are at rest" life too has gone to his rest, "neither shall his place know him any more." In the sublime stillness of death he heeds neither the grief of friends, nor the tumult of the nation Unvexed by the cares, unmoved by the perplexities, undisturbed by the anxieties of life, in the calm quiet of the grave he reposes

Let us honor his memory, and let us cherish his virtues, and let our sincere sympathies be with his family and friends in the deep affliction which has bereaved them.

Thereupon the Court adjourned.

TELEGRAPHIC TO THE Daily Whig and Courier.

[Dispatches to the Evening Papers]

NEW YORK, 28th

The Tribune's despatch says that General St George Cook has been put in command of all the regular cavalry

Col Tyler of the 3d Connecticut regiment, will be made a Brigadier General

An order will probably soon be issued forbidding small scouting expeditions, which only result in ambuscades and murder

An extra pair of shoes has been served to the army

The Times' despatch states it is currently reported that Jeff Davis has appointed Breckinridge and Hunter to succeed Slidell and Mason, and they are to make their way secretly to Quebec or Halifax, and thence to Europe

Generals McClellan and Banks, Assistant Secretary Fox and Com Goldsboro' had an interview today

Henry Wilson, it is said, will introduce a bill to Congress abolishing sutlerships

The Herald's despatch says that an officer from Fortress Monroe, on Saturday last had papers (which had been seized) before the President and Cabinet, which proved to be communications from southern chiefs, forwarded by British consular agents of the principal southern cities, to Lord Lyons, who, in his official capacity, had forwarded these rebel documents to England — The President and Cabinet were a good deal excited, and Lord Lyons will be called upon for an explanation in order to extricate himself from suspicion, which now rests on him of collusion with the rebels

Gen Blenker has withdrawn his resignation

LOUISVILLE, 27th

The Bowling Green Courier of the 21st, says the rebel Brig Gen Geo K Crittenden, brother of the federal General, has been appointed a Major General and assigned to the department of Cumberland Gap

David L Patterson, son in law of Andrew Johnson, was arrested on the 19th instant and brought to Knoxville for trial

The rebel convention at Russelville made a declaration of independence, passed an ordinance of secession, and adopted the laws and constitution of Kentucky, where they were not inconsistent with the acts of the rebel gov rnment

Is was reported that the pirate Sumter had been captured on the coast of Texas by the frigate Niagara.

WHEELING, Va., 27th

A full organization of the Western Virginia Convention was perfected today The work of forming a State Constitution has been assigned to a committee of nine members There is no division of sentiment on the new State. Business will be despatched as fast as possible and application made to Congress early in the session for admission There is a general outside report that a gradual emancipation clause will be adopted

NEW YORK, 28th

The steamer Illinois, from Port Royal afternoon of the 26th, brings a mail and 94 passengers Among the passengers are Capt. Yard, of the sloop of Dale, who brings 14 prisoners of the captured schooners Special and Mabel

Edward Cufburt, a prisoner, who was taken on Lady s Island, near Beaufort, was landed at Fort Lafayette

Steamer Flag arrived at Port Royal 24th and reported that Tybee Island was slightly shelled by the Pocahontas, Seneca, Augusta and Flag, and meeting no response, a force of marines were sent on shore, who found it deserted They took possession, and hoisted the American flag

Tybee Island is at the mouth of the Savannah river

Contrabands continue to arrive at Port Royal in large numbers Gen Sherman has built entrenchments across the whole Island Sore throat prevailed among our troops

Large quantities of cotton were found in storehouses and barns, and also unginned

Another expedition, consisting of two Brigadiers under Gen Viele, would soon sail from Port Royal for the Southern coast

Steamers Empire City, Cahawba, Marion, McClellan, Matanzas, Oriental, and all the light gunboats, were to be employed on the new expedition

Beaufort was still unoccupied by our troops, but two gunboats were anchored off the town

G H Hubbard and Griffin of the 8th, and Nash of the 9th Maine regiment, had died

NEW YORK, 28th

The steamer Ericsson has arrived, bringing one prisoner and 43 laborers from Port Royal

The schooner Essex had arrived at Hilton Head, and reported having been chased and fired at several times by a pirate, between St Helena Sound and Hilton

WHAT IT IS TO FEED AN ARMY The New York Post says that the Union forces, regulars and volunteers, now in the field and in the course of organization, amount, in round numbers, to six hundred and fifty housand men It may be interesting to know, what an army of this strength will consume in the course of a month We therefore append the following figures which are strictly correct 14 655,000 lbs of pork, or 34 370 lbs of fresh beef, 136,094 bols of flour, 48 740 bushels of beans, or 1,950,000 lbs of coffee, 2 802,000 lbs of sugar, 199,000 galls of vinegar, 12,249 bushels of salt, 8,580,000 lbs of potatoes The supply of candles is 292,500 lbs each week, and of soap 790,000 lbs

THE PARTHENON TO BE REPRODUCED In Paris a number of influential men, among whom stand foremost Prince Napoleon, the Duke of Luynes, Ingres, Hittorf, Beule, &c, have conceived the idea of rebuilding the Parthenon of Athens or Montmartre It is to be built like the original, entirely of marble They hope to carry out their plan by a national subscription

NO MORE CAVALRY WANTED Orders have been received from the War Department that no more cavalry regiments be raised This arm of the service is deemed sufficiently large for the purposes of the war It now consists of fifty regiments, exclusive of other detached companies and squadrons, the number, including those in service and forming, divided among the States as follows—

Maine 1, Vermont 1, Massachusetts 1 New York 8, Pennsylvania 7, Ohio 6, Indiana 4, Illinois 11, Wisconsin 2, Iowa 3, Michigan 3, Kansas 2, Kentucky, 2, Missouri 2—total 50

In addition to these, there are five regiments of Regular Cavalry now in service, and one forming at Pittsburg, Pa Doubtless the total will be swelled by detached companies to nearly sixty thousand

MOVEMENTS IN CANADA The Montreal Advertiser of Monday says that Gen Williams the commander of the forces in Canada, has been summoned to Quebec to confer with the Governor General upon the defenses of the province — Important dispatches for the Imperial Government are said to have been forwarded by the steamer on Saturday

FIRST THANKSGIVING in KANAWHA

General Fremont and Jamboree in Albany

WASHINGTON, 28

Surgeon Alexander of the 51st Pennsylvania reserve cavalry, who was wounded at Drainsville yesterday morning, is considered out of danger Joseph Houghling, who was wounded, died last night

Thomas Coleman, a rebel guerilla, a brother of Charles Coleman, the proprietor of the hotel at Drainsvill, who boasted of having exhibited in front of his establishment the head of a Federal soldier, died last night from injuries received during the skirmish

A portion of the twelve prisoners brought to Washington were prominent citizens who were found with arms in their hands

Capt. Kohl commanding the Reindeer, went down the Potomac yesterday to Budd's ferry and returned today, reports everything quiet in that vicinity. He brought up one contraband

An order was issued today by Gen Porter, the Provost Marshal of Washington endorsed by Gen McClellan, empowering Capt J M Evans to investigate the subject of passes, doubtless with a view of establishing a more uniform system which will afford better security to the public service

Thanksgiving was generally observed today in the camps, the soldiers being amply provided with the means for that purpose.

The report of Major Bilger Quartermaster at Baltimore is satisfactory to the Department—showing that he has despatched the forage of 203 vessels to Washington within the last 30 days, being an average of two thousand tons a day, besides a large amount of stores to the subsistence department Much valuable assistance has been rendered by Mr McParland to Major Bilger

The reconnoissances from Porter and Smith's divisions, were made today in the neighborhood of Vienna They saw what was supposed to be a regiment of rebel infantry at a distance

ROLLA, 27th

Our scouts this morning bring definite and reliable reports of the movements of the enemy in the Southwestern portion of the state They were in the rebel camp at Sarcoxie Thursday last

McCulloch under cuds our retrograde movement as an attempt to get in his rear His scouts report to him that our whole force was crossing White River

McCulloch is now encamped at Springfield with four thousand men

Rains left Sarcoxie Friday last with 7000 men and has joined McCulloch by this time

Price was at Pineville, McDonald county with the balance of the rebel army He took up march Friday and is advancing north to join McCulloch and Rains

Price, on his march, desolated and destroyed everything to prevent our troops getting in his rear

There are no large bodies of rebels between here and Mississippi Over 1000 refugee families are here, many in destitute condition, with pitiful prospects for winter, and more continually arriving Measles are raging in different camps

WHEELING, Nov, 28th

For the first time in history this commonwealth today was observed as Thanksgiving Gov Pierpont is the first Governor ever proclaimed one Business is entirely suspended

NEW YORK, 28th

Schooner E N Genin, from Ship Island, near New Orleans, reports fortification there finished—guns mounted and 150 men, detached from the blockading fleet to work them

Arrived—ship Regulas Hayt, barks Laura Russ, Havana, Return, Brazil Iris, Dublin, Brothers, Cienfuegos Brigs Scotland, Barbadoes Schooner John Strout, Linguera

HALIFAX, 28th

Captain Lane and Burdell of the schooner Shooting Star, have been convicted of manslaughter

NEW YORK, 28th

Thanksgiving was generally observed here today The churches were well filled, and with the exception of the firemen's parade, the day was religiously observed

ALBANY, 28th

Gen Fremont and family passed through here this afternoon

South Carolina the Field of War.

We have already stated our conviction that all parts of the nation would rejoice to see South Carolina made the field of war The following which we copy from a Maryland journal, shows that this sentiment is entertained not only among ourselves but no less by men of the border

From the Cumberland, Md, Civilian and Telegraph—

A BLOW IN THE RIGHT PLACE The hearts of the people will run over with great joy at the fact that the war has been implanted on the soil of South Carolina They are ready, remarks the Wheeling Intelligencer, to say as captive Israel said, "Remember, O Lord, the children of Edom, in the day of Jerusalem, who said raze it, raze it, even to the foundation thereof" It is the one State for which the loyal people of the country have no bowels of compassion. To make it a wild waste would better meet their wishes than anything else. It has been a hotbed of pestilence to our Government, a garden of contagious disease and death, a treacherous quagmire, a selfish, proud, aristocratic, labor hating, offer complaining and ever exacting State Now it will have something to feel Now it may raise the nigger howl sure enough The wolf has come this time, and South Carolina, that never lost a negro by runaway or abduction will find herself confiscated from border to border She will lose millions of dollars worth of cotton and contrabands She will be made as poor and desolate as a Mexican ranche before this war is over Whoever had whatever else may escape, the people of this country have made up their minds that persistent, overbearing, treason fostering South Carolina shall feel the keen edge of the sword clear to the very quick of her marrow.

Up to this time she has felicitated herself that she was having a nice thing of it. The borders were receiving the blow which she had provoked and she was nicely and snugly out of harm's way But that dream is dispelled, and verily the Philistines are upon her Our troops will work while the sun shines. The winter is the season for them When spring comes, it will behold South Carolina as she was and as she is even yet, no more A fearful reckoning is in store for her

The stone fleet, says the N Y Times, sailed direct for the harbor of Charleston and Savannah in the channels of which they will be sunk Perhaps by this time they have reached their destination, and the blockade of the ports of these ambitious rebel cities has been rendered effectual for many years to come

Western Virginia—or what will probably soon be known as the State of Kanawha—has done remarkably well in raising troops to support the Government in putting down the rebellion — That portion of the Old Dominion has now in the field the following number of men.

	Regiments.	Men
Infantry,	12	8,840
Cavalry,	3	2 808
Three artillery batteries,	—	358
Total,		12 006

The Washington correspondent of the New York World says that government has received official information that there is cotton enough at Beaufort to make ten thousand bales

SOUTHERN MARKET QUOTATIONS The New Orleans Crescent of November 9th states that flour was selling at $11,25 a $12,25 per barrel, weeks receipts 4970 barrels Corn had advanced to $1 25 per bushel for white, and red wheat $1,25 per bushel Oats $,25 per bushel Western hay $50 per ton, and prairie grass $25 per ton Mess pork was selling at $15 per barrel, the stock in private hands was only 90 barrels, the rest of the stock (3029 barrels) being held for government stores Hams were retailing at from 25 to 27 cents per pound, and lard 27 to 28 cents There had been no receipts for a week of either pork, bacon or lard Western butter was quoted at 35 a 40 cents per lb — Kentucky bagging was selling at 23 cents per yard, and bails at 28 cents, Gunny bags sold at 30 cents each Whiskey $1 per gallon, and the weeks receipts only amounted to 50 barrels In regard to the article of coffee there was none in first hands, and the amount held by grocers was very small, the stock being almost exhausted Sales of Liverpool salt brought the following rates $10 a $10, 50 per sack for coarse, and $11 a $11 50 for fine, packing salt had advanced to $5,50 a $6 per bag of two bushels Lard oil sold at $2,50 a $2,60 per gallon

MORE TROOPS FOR THE SOUTH The movement of troops to Port Royal to operate with those now there in "regulating" South Carolina, has already begun In addition to the 20,000 now landed, there are at least 13 000, on the way south or soon to depart, embarked in the divisions of Gen Benj F Butler and Gen Burnside We give the list of the thirteen regiments that are to form a part of the expedition

12th Maine,	Col. Geo F Shepley
23d Massachusetts,	Col John Kurtz
24th Massachusetts,	Col T G Stevenson
25th Massachusetts,	Col Edwin Upton
26th Massachusetts,	Col E F Jones

8th Connecticut,	Col Edward Harland
9th Connecticut,	Col Cahill
10th Connecticut,	Col Chas L Russell
51st New York,	Col. Edward Jones

BEAUREGARD AND DAVIS The Southern papers are having a very quarrel over these rebels The Charleston papers assert that Davis prevented the capture of Washington after the battle of Bull Run, which Beauregard was anxious to accomplish On the other hand the Richmond Examiner accuses Beauregard with being to blame for not immediately advancing on Washington If both sides are to be believed, both the rebel leaders are incompetent.

It is creditably reported from Washington that Gen Cameron has in private conversation confirmed the statement that he will in his report take strong ground in favor emancipation

The Secretary of the Navy has authorized Mr George W Blunt of New York to employ a large number of pilots who are thoroughly familiar with the Southern coast, for several entirely new expeditions

The removal of the rebel capital from Richmond to Nashville is regarded in some quarters as an indication that the chief seat of the war will hereafter be in Tennessee and Kentucky, and not Virginia

SEIZURE We understand that the Revenue boat "Fuller" of this district, seized by order of the Collector, the schooner Telegraph of Deer Isle for an attempted fraud It seems that an old vessel by the name of "Seaman" was repaired last year, and the owners took out new papers for her when completed, taking care that she was a new vessel, and calling her the "Telegraph" The old papers were not returned to the office, and the name of "Seaman" and also of "Telegraph" was painted on a piece of board nicely fitted to the archboard, so that the vessel could show either name at pleasure The vessel was inspected and passed for the coasting business under each name, and would have drawn bounty for two vessels had not the trick been detected, We understand the matter is in the hands of the District Attorney —Ellsworth American

There is an old anecdote of a pious old lady, who asked a celebrated Restorationist preacher how long he supposed the wicked would have to suffer torments before being restored, "O, I don't know," was the reply, "perhaps a thousand million of years" "Well," said she, apparently much consoled, "that is better than nothing!" We are reminded of this kind old lady in reading some of our political exchanges They mourn over the war, talk of subjugation, carp at its management, haven't confidence in the administration, object to "coercion" would stop rebellion by moral suasion, talk of a ruined country, a bankrupt treasury and a blasted prosperity, have visions of rotten ships, waste plantations and parties knocked into a cocked hat, but the moment the least assurance is given that the niggers shall be let alone, and the "divine institution" shall escape unscathed, their countenances brighten up, and they exclaim, "well, that is right, better than nothing!"—Bath Times

The Wheeling, (Va) Intelligencer tells the story of Floyd's retreat

"Gen Floyd, in his recent retreat from the vicinity of Cauley, destroyed everything portable about Fairfax Court House. He burned over three hundred tents, and picks, spades and axes by the hundred were found charred and destroyed But another place ten wagon loads of ammunition were captured, and along the road for many miles, blankets, broken down wagons, tents and other articles of camp equipage, including arms, were found cast aside by the rebels in their hurry to get out of the way of Benham's men. The victory was complete, and although Floyd was not hedged, he was driven ingloriously from Western Virginia. Floyd's force consisted of six Virginia regiments, two Mississippi regiments and one Georgia regiment, in all about five thousand five hundred men Benham had the 10th, 2th, 18th, and five hundred men from each of the 37th and 44th Ohio regiments, in all three thousand two hundred men"

CLOTHING.

GENTLEMEN

Having retired for years the fortunes of Tailors long a profitable business and having myself proved that we can to be utterly wrong for the Retail Tailoring business, I feel compelled to adopt the CASH SYSTEM It is better for the customer who expects to pay for his garments as the amount lost by bad debts under the credit system is divided between the saints and the patronized as the former receive by paying as much as 20 per cent less for their garments and the latter is saved from bankruptcy Consequently I would invite all Cash paying customers to examine the Stock of Goods now on hand and see if the prices are not 20 per cent less than any other Clothing House in the city

ONLY PREPARATION

THAT HAS

Stood the Test of Years,

And grows more and more popular every day!

AND testimonials, new and almost without number, might be given from ladies and gentlemen in all grades of society, whose unbiased testimony alone could result that Prof Wood's Hair Restorative will restore the bald and gray and preserve the hair of the youth to old age, in all its youthful beauty

BATTLE CREEK Mich., Dec 21, 1860.

Prof Wood—Dear Sir: This will please accept a line to inform you that the hair on my head all fell off over twenty years ago caused by a complicated chronic disease, attended with an eruption on the head. A continual course of suffering, through life having reduced me to a state of feeble health, I have not been able to do all that stuff for days, neither have I been able to do so, in consequence of which my head has suffered extremely from cold. This induced me to pay Briggs & Hodges about the last cent I had on earth for a two dollar bottle of thy Hair Restorative about the first of August last. I have faithfully followed the directions and the bald spot is now covered with hair thick and black as high as the ears is also coming all over my head. Feeling confident that one more bottle would restore it entirely and permanently, I feel anxious to persevere in the use and being destitute of means to purchase any more I would ask thee if thee would not be willing to send me an order for three dollars for a bottle and I receive to thy self the scripture declaration—the reward is not thine that are kind to the widow and the fatherless

Thy friend, SUSANNAH KIRBY

LIBERTY, Noble Co Indiana, Feb 1 1859

Prof Wood—Dear Sir: In the latter part of the year 1856, while attending the State of Indiana Law School of the State of New York my hair began to cause much uneasiness by falling out very rapidly so that in the short space of a little more than a month my scalp was almost entirely bare, full covering and much of the remainder in the form of a fringe. Being unable to procure any thing to stop the falling after because of my inability to return to the State of Indiana, I was acquainted with your notice in one of the papers, and thought I would try your Restorative. Although I was at that time not in good health, I was induced to purchase one bottle, and I have the satisfaction to say that the use of one bottle was sufficient to arrest the falling of the hair, and to cause a new growth to commence. I have used three bottles in all, and my hair is now as good as it ever was. I have recommended your Restorative to many persons, and have never heard a single person say it did them any good. Yours respectfully, JOHN A. MOORE

Late Lieut. 2d Regt Ind Vol

Prof Wood—Dear Sir: Your Restorative has done my hair more good than any thing I have used for the last ten years. I have used it for a dandruff and for a weak and sickly state of the hair, and it has cured me in both cases. Yours truly, JOHN A. MOORE

Prepared and Sold by Prof. O. J. WOOD, Wholesale Agents, 114 Broadway New York, and 114 Market street, St. Louis. Sold by all Druggists everywhere.

PROF. WOOD'S

AND

BLOOD RENOVATOR,

Is precisely what the name indicates, for while it is pleasant to the taste, it is revivifying, invigorating and strengthening in its effect upon the vital powers—it also restores and renews the blood in all the original purity and thickness of youth, imparting a healthy action to the whole system. Sometimes it thins the blood too much, and then it should be used in connection with the Renovator, which is the only preparation of iron in a popular form which is not injurious to the teeth. It is also the most powerful and perfect aperient and diuretic known, and is perfectly adapted to all ages and conditions, being in accordance with the laws of nature, and yet so powerful in its effects that it will cure the most inveterate cases of Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Piles, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, Nervous Debility, Female Weakness, Diseases of the Urinary Organs, Scrofula, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Ringworm, Tetter, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Ulcers, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Mercurial Disease, Syphilis, Mercurial Rheumatism, Ulcerated Sore Throat, Mercurial Ulcers, Ulcerated Consumption, Ulcers on the Limbs, Ulcers in the Throat and Stomach, Dropsical Swellings, Dropsy of the Chest, Diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys and Urinary Organs, Diseases of the Liver, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Piles
